

University Global Health Alliance

Intern for China Program – Fall, 2009

Location: Salt Lake City, UT

Responsibilities:

1. Help develop programs in China that would result in an exchange of information and expertise in the field of health.
2. Point of contact for exchange partners and for UofU participants in China programs.
3. Help with logistics, develop written protocols, and collect pre and post visit reports and photographs. Maintain calendar of medical programs in China.
4. Help develop a partnership in the study of rural medicine in Hainan.
5. Help develop and evaluate the possibility of a visiting physician program from China to the University of Utah.
6. Search for and help write grants for funding of programs.

Language: Mandarin preferred but may not be required.

Prerequisites:

1. Matriculated undergraduate student at the University of Utah
2. Junior or Senior Status
3. Cumulative 3.0 GPA
4. Must register for Political Science 4900 political science internship to qualify

Preference Given to Students Who Have:

1. Prior International Experience (study abroad, personal travel, humanitarian and or religious service)
2. Previous experience and/or knowledge of China
3. An interest in health

Semester Dates:

<http://www.hinkley.utah.edu/internships/index.html>

Cost: Students must pay tuition

Financial Assistance:

Students may apply for a Dan Jones Future Leaders Scholarship

Application Process:

Complete application on line at:

<http://www.hinckley.utah.edu/internships/application/index/html>

Once your application is submitted, e-mail intern manager Courtney McBeth to set up an appointment. She will interview you and will help you find an internship that matches your interests and qualifications.

Orientation: All Students who are accepted as an international intern are required to attend a mandatory orientation, complete that academic requirements, send weekly emails during the internship, and set up a post internship debriefing with Courtney McBeth.

University Global Health Alliance

Intern for China Program – Spring, 2010

Location: Hainan, China

Responsibilities:

1. Help facilitate China programs as an onsite representative.
2. Point of contact for exchange partners and for UofU participants in China programs.
3. Help with logistics, develop written protocols, and collect pre and post visit reports and photographs. Maintain calendar of medical programs in China.
4. Help develop a partnership in the study of rural medicine in Hainan.
5. Help develop and evaluate the possibility of a visiting physician program from China to the University of Utah.
6. Search for and help write grants for funding of programs.

Language: Mandarin preferred but may not be required.

Prerequisites:

1. Matriculated undergraduate student at the University of Utah
2. Junior or Senior Status
3. Cumulative 3.0 GPA
4. Must register for Political Science 4900 “ political science internship” to qualify

Preference Given to Students Who Have:

1. Prior Internships relating to China.
2. Prior International Experience (study abroad, personal travel, humanitarian and or religious service)
3. Previous experience and/or knowledge of China
4. An interest in health

Cost:

Students must pay tuition and be prepared to cover flight, living and transportation expenses, personal expenses, health insurance, and fees for visa and passport applications.

Financial Assistance:

- Students may apply for a Hinckley Institute of Politics International Scholarship at:
- Students may apply for the Study Abroad Fee Scholarship offered by the Office of International Education/Study Abroad.
- Student may apply for the Bill Rishel Loan Program through the Hinckley Institute

Semester Dates:

<http://www.hinckley.utah.edu/internships/index.html>

Application Process:

Complete application on line at:

<http://www.hinckley.utah.edu/internships/application/index/html>

Once your application is submitted, e-mail intern manager Courtney McBeth to set up an appointment. She will interview you and will help you find an internship that matches your interests and qualifications.

Orientation:

All Students who are accepted as an international intern are required to attend a mandatory orientation, complete that academic requirements, send weekly emails during the internship, and set up a post internship debriefing with Courtney McBeth.